The RSP makes sure the RNH is aware of the following:

- .DK launches a management service, where a registrant now can choose to let a registrar completely take care of the administration of their domain name and at the same time retain the same consumer protection. It will still be possible for a registrant to manage their domain name via DK Hostmaster's self-service portal, including the use of a billing contact and a proxy.

- The registrant's obligation to keep their contact information correct has been clarified, and so have DK Hostmaster's power to control this. The consequence of not having accurate contact information, is that all domain names registered to the registrant are suspended and thereafter deleted.
- The suspension period is unified so that it is 25 days regardless of the reason for suspension.

Data processing

Please note that .dk made no changes in the context of GDPR.

The Registrant information such as name and address information is public in the Whois database, available on the Registry's website. This is a requirement under the Domain Names Act, whether the registrant is an organization or an individual.

DK Hostmaster will continue to publish the name, address and telephone number of registrants, as this is a requirement in the Domain Names Act. This means that DK Hostmaster has a legal basis for the publication.

Anonymity
You can only be anonymous in the database if you are registered in the Danish Civil Registration System as having name and address protection.
You are automatically hidden in the database when you are registered in the Danish Civil Registration System as having name and address protection.
